DONORS' NIGHT

The annual program in honor of the Donors to Gould Academy will be held in the William Bingham Gymnasium, on Thursday evening, Dec. 7, 1933, at eight o'clock. "The Clock Shop," a musical fantasy by John Golden, in which the clocks in the old clockmaker's shop come to life and enact an interesting little drama of "clock life," will be presented by members of the student body under the direction of Miss Ruth Leavengood, head of the Department of Music and Dramatics. Dancing will follow the presentation of "The Clock Shop." The public are heartily invited to attend. The full program will be announced next week.

"I LIKE YOUR NERVE"

On Tuesday night of next week, Polly Browne will tell Dr. Hood, "I Like Your Nerve" just before the final curtain of the Bethel Footlight Club's first performance. This is the closing remark of the rapid moving comedy that is filled with surprise, suspense and laughter.
The leads are supported by a strong cast with Eva Brown, Earle Eldredge and Mona Wentzel playing character parts. The comedy rolls will be played by Norris Brown and Naomi Bean. Others who will add to the fun and general mix-up are Fitz Vail, Erland Wheeler, Cella Gorman, and Virginia Little. Royden Keddy in the part of the bell hop bids fair to be the star of the play.
Many of these people are already familiar to Bethel audiences, but during the past four weeks each character has been given a new twist so even the "local standbys" should be seen again with satisfaction and surprise.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Wendall Gibbs entertained Saturday evening in honor of the sixteenth birthday of her sister, Miss Florence Bean. A pleasant social time was enjoyed with games. Following the games refreshments were served by the hostess. A special feature of the refreshments was a birthday cake with decorations in pink and white, made by Mrs. Edna York. Miss Bean was presented with a beautiful necklace, a gift from her friends.

THE THANKSGIVING SPIRIT GIVES

Signs of winter have spurred Farm Bureau groups to make plans for assisting the relief organizations in the county with their winter work.
Farm Bureau members are being asked to give the following:
One quart of home canned fruit, vegetable or meat.
Ten potatoes.
Two cabbage, squash, pumpkins, or ten beets, carrots, etc.

Donation Week—Nov. 26 to 30th
Supplies will be used in the towns where they are collected in so far as they are needed.

The following people have already been appointed to receive donations, and to cooperate with relief agencies in the communities in helping to relieve the needy:

Middle Intervale: Mrs. Ethel Ward, anytime at her home.
Gifts will be received at the place and time designated. In communities not included in the above list the Farm Bureau Chairwomen will receive the donations. They are:
East Bethel—Mrs. Laura Bartlett.
North Norway—Mrs. Fred Wright.

CRIMINAL CASES IN SUPERIOR COURT

Justice Holmes Hears Cases—Winslow Wins Pony Case—May Adjourn This Week

Pratt-Klein Contract
The case of Willard G. Pratt of South Paris vs. Annie and Harmon Klein of Norway was heard Thursday. Pratt sought to recover $485.67 from the Kleins, claimed to be the amount due for work on the house built by the plaintiff in excess of the contract price. It was claimed by the plaintiff, and denied by the defendant, that changes were made after work had begun which brought the cost above the contract price and it was agreed to continue at day wages. After questioning Pratt, the only witness, at some length, the suit was withdrawn from the jury and Walter L. Gray was named as referee.

Winslow Pony Case
On Friday was heard the case of Mrs. Eunice R. Winslow vs. Deputy Sheriff Chester A. Cummings, both of Bethel, to recover damages as a result of Cummings' action in taking the Winslow ponies on an execution against her husband, Lyman Winslow. The witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow and her brother, Ralph Hodgkins, presented an interesting and detailed account of various transactions involving horses, ponies, and heifers, and convinced the jury that Mrs. Winslow was the owner of the ponies. She was awarded damages of $50.67.

Justice Holmes Honored
Justice Herbert B. Holmes of Lewiston whose appointment as a member of the Superior Court was confirmed Monday, was presented bouquets by the Oxford and Androscoggin bars at Tuesday's session. Judge Aretas Stearns, president of the Oxford Bar Association, expressed congratulations and appreciation of the honor in having him assigned here for his first term.

Salem Wins Suit
The case heard Tuesday was that of Louis Salem of Rumford vs. Benjamin Glovsky of Portland and Harry Fogg of Auburn. A writ of attachment in favor of the Bell Tire Co., who had a claim against Salem for $70, was served. Salem's store was in charge of Fogg a short time, and when returned to him the cash drawer was empty. The jury returned a verdict of $250 for Salem. Attorney for the plaintiff was Albert Bellevue of Rumford; for defense, Benjamin Bertram of Lewiston.

Criminal Cases
Lyman Winslow, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of possession of a still when the case was tried in a lower court, changed the plea to guilty Wednesday and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve two months in jail, with two months additional in default of payment. Upon payment of the fine the jail sentence was suspended and he was put on probation for a year.

Charles Plouffe and Cleophas Chalason, indicted for breaking jail, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to the reformatory.

Lewis Curtis of Rumford pleaded not guilty to a drunken driving charge and was placed on probation for two years.

Joseph McNeil, charged with keeping and depositing, pleaded not guilty and was placed on probation for a year.

Rena Dube of Rumford pleaded not guilty to a charge of keeping and depositing and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs, serve two months in jail and two months additional in default of payment. The fine and costs were paid and sentence was suspended.

FRED M. WOOD

Fred M. Wood, a highly esteemed citizen of Bethel, died at the C. M. G. Hospital Saturday at 8 p. m., following a serious operation the previous Monday.

Mr. Wood was born at Winthrop, Jan. 20, 1863, the only son of John C. and Julia Hanscom Wood. June 4, 1887, he married Miss Nettie Kimball of Winthrop, who died in May, 1898.

Of the six children born, four survive, John C. of Greene, Mrs. Ruth M. Putnam of San Pedro, Calif., R. Lester of Bethel, and Mrs. Margaret Smith of Monmouth. A daughter, J. Marion, died in 1908, and a son, Clement, in 1915.

Jan. 1, 1904, he married Miss Olive Wheeler of Bethel, who survives.

There are six grandchildren: Marion Wood of South Paris, Clement Smith of Monmouth, and Gilbert, Carolyn, Ruth, and Mary E. Wood of Greene.

There also survives a sister, Mrs. C. S. Stetson of Auburn, and a cousin, Herbert Wood of Winthrop.

Mr. Wood joined the Methodist Episcopal church at the age of 17 years and when young was chosen one of the official board, in which capacity he faithfully worked, as well as in other departments of the church and Sunday school, during his life. He was also an I. O. O. F. member.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, from the Plummer & Merrill funeral home, Auburn. Rev. Frank H. Hall of Farmington, M. E. Church officiated. Interment was at Glenside cemetery, Winthrop.

WORKING ON TERRAZZO FLOORS IN NEW BUILDING

The principal work on the new academy building at present is on the terrazzo floors, plastering on the third floor, and applying the asphalt shingles and sheet metal on the roof.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary who attended the Council meeting at South Paris Wednesday were Mrs. Carrie French, Mrs. Mary Moore, Mrs. Frances Bennett, Mrs. Beatrice Grover, Mrs. Grace Coburn and Mrs. Gladys Bean.

Flossie Wing, appealing a larceny sentence in the Norway municipal court, pleaded not guilty and sentenced to serve six months in jail. She was placed on probation for a year.

Steve York pleaded guilty to forging an endorsement on a check for $13.75 and was sentenced to serve six months in jail. He was given probation for a year.

Joseph Therrien and Mary Richard, charged with cohabitation, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to three months in jail. The woman was placed on probation for a year.

Leon and Henry Cormier of Rumford pleaded guilty of breaking and entering and larceny. The charge of breaking and entering was not pressed and they were sentenced to serve six months in jail. They received probation for a year.

Walter Littlehale was sentenced to from one to two years in prison, on the charge of larceny from the camp of Vico Isola at North Norway. Marie Roberts pleaded not guilty to the same charge and her case was not disposed of. Fred Littlehale, charged with concealing stolen property, pleaded guilty. He was given a six months jail sentence and a year's probation.

Charles Gold, charged with larceny, and Fred Blodgett, drunken driving were not in court and their bail was ordered defaulted.

It is expected that court will adjourn Friday or Saturday.

DR. CHAPMAN BUYS GARAGE

Purchases Herrick Bros. Co. Building, Stock and Equipment

Dr. W. R. Chapman purchased the equipment, stock and building of Herrick Bros. Co. last Saturday and Laurence Lord, who has leased this property from Arthur Herrick the past year, has leased the same for a term of years. It is understood that improvements are planned which will make this the equal of any in the State.

The building was built by Herrick Bros. in 1907. It was the first garage in Bethel and for several years was conducted very successfully by A. W. Herrick and the late G. M. Herrick. It was later operated by Herrick Bros. Co. under the management of P. M. Walker and the late Harry King, who sold to Arthur Herrick and A. W. Herrick in 1922. Leslie Davis purchased the interest of A. W. Herrick later selling to Arthur Herrick.

Under Mr. Herrick's ownership the business has been much enlarged, and a stock room, new office, extra space in the work room, and the latest equipment added. Mr. Herrick has not made definite plans for the future.

RUMFORD HOSPITAL DONATION WEEK VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Donation Week Committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Rumford Community Hospital wishes to thank the people of Bethel, East Bethel, West Bethel, Locke Mills, and Bryant Pond, for their very generous response to their drive. They are especially indebted to Wm. Chapman III, Mrs. Charles Crosby, Laurence Lord, William Bennett, Harlan Kimball, N. A. Stearns, F. A. Mundi, Maurice Tyler, Paul Thurston, E. E. Bennett, A. F. Chapman, Chester Ladd, Mrs. Arthur Richardson, Mrs. Wm. Walker, Mrs. Sumner Davis, Mrs. Mary Corbett, Mrs. Bert Harlow, Mrs. Roy Bennett, Mrs. Fred Wright, Percy Walker, Leslie Davis, Robert Sanborn, Charles Eames, Elmer Trask, Wm. Hastings, John Howe, Mrs. R. R. Tibbetts, Roy Blake, G. W. Knight, Daniel Foster, Will Holt, M. M. Newton, Gard Bennett, Asa Howard, E. S. Buck, and Jorgen Olson. Also, those friends who contributed thru Ramsell's Store, I. G. A. Store, and Stowell's Store at Locke Mills, and to Carl Brown of the Oxford County Citizen.

The residents of Mexico, Dixfield, Hanover, Rumford Center, Rumford Point, Rumford, Peru, Canton and Andover, responded even better than last year, and the total results are very satisfying to the Committee which has worked so hard and to the Hospital whose commissary department is well supplied for the winter.

BEAR RIVER GRANGE

Bear River Grange met in regular session Saturday, Nov. 18, with 26 members present. Officers present were: Master, F. I. French; Overseer, E. L. Holt; Flora, Carrie French. It was voted to hold a whist party Friday, Nov. 24. The following program was presented: Song, "Love's Old Sweet Song," Reading, "The Star of Bethlehem," Song, "Glorious Contest," Roy Tripp Reading, "The Star of Bethlehem," Song, "The Star of Bethlehem," Lecture on Federal Farm Loans, E. L. Holt Will Contest, Gwendolyn Godwin. A box supper was enjoyed after the meeting. The men brought the boxes and the women purchased them.

WITH THE POETS

To Our Readers—If there is an old song or poem which you cannot find and would like to see in print, write the Citizen. If we are unable to locate it possibly another reader can furnish it for publication.

Poem requested—"On the Shores of the Tennessee."

Poem requested—"A Mortifying Mistake."

I REMEMBER, I REMEMBER

Thomas Hood

I remember, I remember
The house where I was born,
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn;
He never came a wink too soon
Nor brought too long a day;
But now, I often wish the night
Had born my breath away.

I remember, I remember
The roses, red and white
The violets, and the lily-cups—
Those flowers made of light!
The lilacs where the robin built,
And where my brother set
The lathum on his birthday—
The tree is living yet!

I remember, I remember
Where I used to swing,
And thought the air must rush as fresh
To swallows on the wing;
My spirit flew in feathers then
That is so heavy now,
And summer pools could hardly Cool
The fever on my brow.

I remember, I remember
The fir trees dark and high;
I used to think their slender tops
Were close against the sky;
It was a childish ignorance,
But now 'tis little joy
To know I'm farther off from Heaven
Than when I was a boy.

THE MODERN GIRL

O. K. Boothman.

Raucous and loud, she's singing
But not to the baby, so fair.
Home from a night club, she's winging
Without a worry or care.

She has not a household duty
Beyond her powder and paint.
She'd rather be called a beauty;
Cooking would cause her to faint.

She couldn't sew on a button,
If it meant saving her life.
She wouldn't know egg from mutton;
She'd make a heck of a wife.

If she had to rise in the morning
To start work for the day,
She'd go to court a-faunting
To be put on divorcee's pay.

Dancing and gin and petting Are the only three things she knows.
She'll stand small chance getting To heaven, when from this world she goes.

She would rather love a poodle
Than a baby, any day.
And she'd rather lose her noodle
Than for any child to pay.

She won't look twice at a young man
Who talks to her of home.
Show her "dough" with an old man.
And, to get it, the world she'll roam.

Albany—Waterford

Mrs. Walter Canwell, Harold and Beatrice Canwell, were in Norway
Saturday.

Mrs. Nora Dresser will close her home soon and spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Andrews at Norway.

Mrs. Sarah Brown, who recently moved to Waterford from Stoneham, in company with Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Bennett and family of Bethel spent Sunday at Ernest Brown's.

Elmer Dingley of Harrison was in this place recently after wood.
Fred McAllister and Henry Churchill are cutting wood and timber near the Dresser school house.

Donald Brown is hauling wood for Merrill Sawin.

Ralph Knight shot a nice doe
Friday near the Kezars.

Lee Lord and family were callers at E. K. Shedd's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown were in Bethel Thursday and visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bennett.

APPLES MARKETING THROUGH ASSOCIATION

The Park Apple Growers' Association, which was started under the guidance of Raymond Atherton, Extension Marketing Specialist, has shipped a car of Greenings and is about to send a car of Baldwin to New York. Returns have been received from the Greenings and were very satisfactory, all things considered.

Probably the biggest advantage of shipping these few cars will be the experience obtained. Already several suggestions have been made by buyers and a number of things have appeared to be necessary from the standpoint of production and handling fruit before shipment.
During the winter it is hoped that several meetings will be held to discuss these things that will be helpful to the association next year.

The Oxford County Schoolmasters' Association is scheduled to meet in Bethel, Wednesday evening, December 6, at 6:00 o'clock.

The Bethel chapter of the Comrades of the Way is planning to meet other chapters of the State in a convention to be held at West Bethel, Saturday afternoon, Nov.

25. Several speakers will deliver talks to the young people and a special supper will be served.

Last Thursday evening in the assembly room of the academy, Rev.
Frederick Young of Dixfield presented an illustrated lecture on the Century of Progress Exposition.
Mr. Young's lecture was educational as well as entertaining and was attended by a small but appreciative audience.

The Gould Y. M. C. A. sent the following representatives to the State Convention in Lewiston-
Auburn last Saturday and Sunday:
Paul Browne, Stanley Allen, Eldredge Berry, Stanley Brown, Walter Grover, Willard Wight and Junior Chapman. Mr. Crane accompanied the delegation.

The Academy will hold school on Saturday, Nov. 25, and will close for the Thanksgiving vacation on Tuesday afternoon. Examinations which would ordinarily have come at the end of the twelfth week will be given on Monday and Tuesday.

EASY ACES

One of the most delightful occasions in the history of the Easy Aces took place on Thursday evening, November 16, when the club accepted the gracious invitation of Mrs. Margaret King and motored to South Paris.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs.
Linda Van, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lur-vey, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Van, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. Grace Mc-Farlane, Mrs. Doris Bryant, Mrs.
Ruth Carver, Mrs. Doris Lord and Mrs. Dorothy Tucker.

While the ladies played bridge, the gentlemen attended the show at Norway. A hot supper of oyster stew, cake, and coffee was much enjoyed.

After singing several old favorites the party left for Bethel, cheered and warmed by the memory of a most delightful evening.
Mrs. King substituted at bridge for Mrs. Alberta Wilson.

BRYANT POND

The Bryant Pond Garden Club met Nov. 16, with Miss George Crockett, and everyone had an enjoyable time. Owing to the bad weather there was small attendance. The next meeting will be held Dec. 15 at Mrs. Mame Crocketts, when Christmas wreaths will be made.

Franklin Grange

Franklin Grange held its regular meeting last Saturday night with a good attendance. The first and second degrees were conferred. The following program was put on:
Singing, Ladies' Quartet
Reading, Alice Dudley
Song, with encore, Manning Arata
Fashion Show
Cookie Contest
Farce: "Uncle Raspberry"

A penny lunch was served. The fashion show and farce were put on by ladies from South Woodstock.
Sunday the Grange attended church in a body. There were about 70 Grangers.

Joe Payne, a cowboy from Texas and an evangelist, is holding evening services here this week.

George Cummings is in the Eye and Ear Infirmary at Portland, and had cataracts removed from one eye.

Mrs. Dora Covell, is at her brother's,
Charles Dunham's very sick.
Flossie Perham, R. N., is caring for her. A sister, Ada Dunham, from Bethel is also there.

The Santa Fe Trail

Don Pedro Vial, a Spaniard, explored the route of the Santa Fe trail. On horseback he pierced out the trail in 1738 and several other horsemen passed the old markings before 1821, which was the year William Becknell made the first trip with a pack train. It was Becknell's report to congress that led to the council of 1825 when three federal commissioners met with the Osage Indians and made the treaty which gave the United States a right-of-way through the Indian lands forever, the Santa Fe trail.

Earthquake Frequency

Seismographs throughout the world record an average of twenty-five earthquakes every twenty-four hours, fourteen of which are strong enough to be felt by a person standing over them. Those that occur on land and damage buildings take place on an average of one every eighty-two hours.—Collier's Weekly.

That Bird!

"HAWK!" exclaimed Mrs. James Wellington Crandall. "He's a real treasure!"

"Haw!" Mr. James Wellington Crandall's eyes were elevated as he saw his collar before the mirror.

The new butler, of course. Our old one is going to be ab-so-lutely lost. Wait until Sally Marietta him. She's been looking for a butler for months!

Knows his stuff, does he? I ought to by the way he took my when I came in. What's his name?

Hawks. "Isn't that just too defect? It sounds so English. But really all-American. And so tious and mild-mannered."

All qualifications for the perfect er, huh? Courteous and mild-mannered—Hawkins?"

Hawks, darling, not Hawkins. I'm going down now. I'm just dying to the centerpiece. And he made most excellent suggestion serving the caviar—something really

Well, run along while I get dressed. But don't set too much by that perfect treasure, Christina. Brooms sweep clean and that . . . and he might not be. Gee, you look like the star of the top of a Christmas tree in a dress."

Thank you, Jimmie. You are a real . . .

Treasure! Me'n Hawkins. And er by the way, dear, you might him if he really knows how to cocktails."

I say, Crandall," whispered Mr.
Crandall over the dinner table.
The cocktail. Potent! Delicious!
Are the secret with me, won't you?"

Hawks was placing a plate of food before the host.

Possibly Hawkins here . . . I am, Hawkins . . . can. He confirmed it. Sort of reminds me of we used to have in France—in 1917 and '18. We named the Hollywood American. There was a captain in our outfit . . .

fact, he was my captain . . .
when he found I could throw stuff together right he took it in himself—that captain, I ask of . . . to appoint me as his personal bartender."

You, Jimmie?" exclaimed Mrs.
Crandall at his right. "Why—you?"

"Well, he was a captain—and I am a K. P., that's all."

Hard-boiled! When he cussed he used the air to indigo! A lady too. There was one American girl in the canteen I was pretty fond of . . . Miriam Bedell of Ohio. I used to help her make beef and corned beef sandwiches and sweep out the canteen and all that, but she canned me for this captain. Of course, the two bars and the Browne best sort of put the private's uniform in the shade, it hurt like the dickens. The American girls meant home to us often wonder where Miriam was."

"Perhaps she married the captain," suggested Christine.

"Oh, no, she wouldn't marry that kind. She just liked his uniform."

That wasn't all he did. He put me and my buddle, Scotty, in the camp because we were late getting to camp one night when our train broke down and we had to ride on a French farm-captain and the very next week they and I went to Paris on a week-day leave and we found that there—A. W. O. L. I. Darned for him we got sailing orders the day after we got back to the army."

"Did you ever see him again?"

"Thank you, Hawkins—Hawkins!"

The butler placed a plate before her. "Oh, yes, I saw him again."

The outfit came back on the same train. The enlisted men were packed like sardines down in the car and the second day out the train proceeded to turn upside down. I was in my berth praying that boat would sink quick, when the bird came down and made me him a Hollywood American!

"Yes, Mr. Crandall."

"More coffee, please."

And while Hawkins stood at his elbow, Jimmie concluded his reminiscing.

"I said—right then and there—if I ever caught that bird west of the Statue of Liberty . . ."

It was a tragic face that confronted Jimmie Crandall when the last guest had left them. Christine's bare shoulders drooped dejectedly from the silver sheath that made her look like a star. In her hand she held a sheet of notepaper.

"Jimmie," she wailed. "He's—gone!"

"Yeah?" James Wellington Crandall's chin was elevated as he removed his collar before the mirror. "Who?"

"The new butler, of course. And he was such a perfect . . . Jimmie Crandall! What was the name of—that captain—over there?"

Jimmie's back was turned as he still struggled with his collar.

"Oh, that bird? His name was Hawkins. Why?"

WILSON'S MILLS

Mrs. Stella Blakey, Berlin, spent last week visiting Mrs. Leslie Hart in town.

Mr. and Mrs. William I. Adams are rejoicing over the birth of a baby daughter born Oct. 31. The little one has been named Carolyn Rose. Mrs. Adams and children are with her parents in Brewer. Mr. Adams returned home Saturday night and Mrs. Adams will be home in the near future.

Mrs. W. H. Hart, Mrs. Leslie Hart and Mrs. Stella Blakey spent the afternoon Thursday with Mrs. Floyd West.

Thursday evening guests of Floyd West were Mr. and Mrs. Tidswell of Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Louise Libby and daughter Virginia of North Turner and Dan Powers of Norway.

George Nason was down the lake Saturday and when he tried to get back Sunday to bring his parties down the lake he could only get as far as Aldrich brook as the water had chilled over. Ted Hewey brought his guests down, along with Mr. Flint's guests as Mr. Hewey has an ice breaker on the front of his boat for real thin ice.

Ted Hewey and Fredland Clark brought Mr. Flint's cow down the lake Monday night.

W. H. Hart had a party in his camp Thursday and has two hunters boarding at his house now.

More snow fences are being put up today where there were large drifts last year and where several men had to shovel them before the tractor could get through.

Mrs. Dan Powers of Norway, Eleanor, Marion and Lawrence Tidswell of Turner and a friend of Auburn spent the week end in camp with their relatives.

Mrs. Alice Tidswell, Mrs. Margaret Libby and daughter Virginia spent Friday with Bertha West.

Gardner Halsey and two friends of Palamera spent last week with his sister, Mrs. Clarence West, and family. They secured one deer while out hunting their second day.

Mrs. W. H. Hart and son Leslie went to Errol dam to see Leslie's daughter, Nellie Allen, before she left for her home in Skowhegan.

George Bennett and Harvey Hart each got a deer last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tidswell, Mr. and Mrs. Louise Libby and daughter were supper guests of Floyd E. West Sunday night.

Sawyer Lake froze over during the night of Nov. 22d.

Ted Hewey, George Nason and John Travers were down the lake Wednesday with Hewey's boat after hay for Mr. Nason.

Mrs. A. W. Judkins of Upton spent Friday with Mrs. Floyd West. Oscar Judkins, School Superintendent, visited the schools Friday.

Mrs. Jennie Travers and son Earl were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hart, Sunday.

See the New Remington Portable at the Citizen Office.

GORHAM NORMAL SCHOOL

Thursday, November 16, marked the beginning of a new quarter at the Gorham Normal School. Many of the second year students are going out practice teaching in the various schools near Gorham. Among these are Miss Mary Colby of South Paris, who will teach in Grade one of the Gorham Training School; Miss Avis Hinds of Rumford, Grade five, and Miss Eva Hall of Bridgton, Libby School, Westbrook, Maine.

Several of the Oxford County students are taking an active part in basketball this year. The second round of interclass games began Friday with a game between the Mid-seniors and Advanced Seniors. Daniel Wight of North Newry represents Oxford County on the Advanced Senior team while Laurence Bartlett of Bethel is playing on the Mid Senior team.

The Poetry Club held its regular meeting in Miss Lewis' recitation room Wednesday afternoon. Among those present from Oxford County were Miss Sonia Cohen and Barbara Howard of Rumford and Miss Myrtle Pratt of Upton.

Saturday evening the Fraternity orchestra, of which Daniel Wight of North Newry, who plays banjo, is a member, gave an informal dance in Center. The hall was prettily decorated with colored lights in red, yellow and green. The party was a great success, there being a large number of students present.

West Paris—High Street

W. H. Whitman is at home after spending several months at his place at South Paris.

Herman McKeen has his new house nearly ready for occupancy. E. O. Hill was at home over Sunday.

Orin Doughty of Portland called on his sister, Mrs. Roland Benson, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Millett and daughter Marion, Mrs. Mary Millett and Arthur Jackson, all of Millettville, were callers at D. O. Hill's Sunday afternoon.

Ellen Paappa spent several days last week at Roland Benson's.

Marion Hill spent a week in Portland visiting her aunt, Mrs. Fred Wilson, recently.

Roland and Harry Benson went to Ketchum hunting the latter part of the week.

Perkins Valley — Woodstock

Robert and Hazel Johnson of New Hampshire were recent guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Libby.

Ahner Benson has taken a wood job of Lauri Immonen. Gerald Benson will assist in the cutting. He and Ted Roberts will stay in the Lewis Mann house while working on the job.

Walter Appleby is working in the lumber yard for A. M. Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Melford Perham of West Paris called on his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Perham, Sunday evening.

Jessie Flagg visited her daughter, Mrs. Charles Silver, Tuesday.

Alva Hendrickson has quite a crew of men working in the woods and he is planning on doing an extensive job of lumbering this winter.

GILEAD

Miss Mildred Barlow, Hanover, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Margaret Emery.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holden were in Berlin Saturday.

Miss Clarice Whittier has resumed her duties as teacher at the village school after an absence of two weeks.

Miss Ruby Hodgdon of Bethel was a guest of her parents for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collett and children of West Paris were guests in town this week.

Mrs. I. P. Symons of Norway was a guest of relatives in town recently.

Mrs. Russell Cole was a guest of friends in Gorham last week.

Mrs. Julia Losier of Berlin is visiting her son, Larry Losier, and family.

Lester Proof has gone to North Newry where he has employment.

MONAHAN-HAYNES

A wedding of interest to the people of this vicinity was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haynes, Phenix, R. I., last Saturday at 3 p. m. when their daughter, Miss Alice Denton Haynes became the bride of Mr. Robert Scott Monahan of Gilead.

The Rev. O. O. Lezier, pastor of Riverpoint Congregational church officiated, using the single ring service. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Florence B. Haynes, and the groom was attended by his brother, Delong Monahan of Philadelphia, Pa.

The bride was dressed in white, ermine velvet with matching tulle and carried a bouquet of gardenia and white carnations. The maid of honor wore a gown of brown chiffon velvet with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at W. T. Warwick Country Club in Phenix which was attended by over 200 guests. Autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums were used for decoration.

The bride graduated from Simmons College in 1929 and since her graduation has been active in social and educational circles in Rhode Island.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. N. Monahan of Pawtucket, R. I., and graduated from Dartmouth College in 1929 and from Yale School of Forestry in '31.

At present he is superintendent of the Wild River C. C. Camp. His book, "Mt. Washington Reoccupied," based upon his experiences at the Mt. Washington Observatory last winter, is attracting much attention to this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Monahan will reside at Pine Lodge this winter. Gilead friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

ELL, MAINE

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Nov. 19—A nice, sunny day. Rather cold during the past week. Two inches or less of snow covers the ground.

Our local plumber, Frank Nash, was called to Stoneham recently for a plumbing job.

State highway construction work on Merrillfield Hill was completed Wednesday of the present week.

The road job on "The Gore" is still operating, using from fifteen to twenty men a day. Road Commissioner Cushman is in charge.

John Hemmingway from North Woodstock was at the Davis home-stand recently.

Another logging camp is opened this week on the Leonard Whitman farm, so called, one of the oldest places in town. Operations are being carried on by Lauri Immonen. Many men are at work there now. Gerald Benson is in charge.

Mrs. Minnie Jackson is visiting her niece, Mrs. Jessie Jackson Andrews.

Mrs. Florence Benson and her sister, Miss Helen Farrar, were in Lewiston recently.

Mrs. Neli Merrill of Norway was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Annie Davis.

The highways and byways are ornamented with snow fences. Much of it must be placed for ornamental purposes as section after section is erected where snow has never been known to drift.

A nice big deer was shot on Curtis Hill. Mr. Crocker, crack shot of local chicken shoots, was the lucky shot this time.

The "Willing workers" were invited to present their demonstration of an antiquarian dress parade at Franklin Grange Saturday, Nov. 18. The invitation was accepted and late Saturday afternoon the model left, conveying reticules, hand-boxes and old time carpet bags, all of which were absolutely necessary for their costumes. An over size Saratoga trunk was requisitioned to carry hoop-skirts, bust padding, epaulets and full length Grecian bands and bustles, wig, powder puffs and snuff boxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayden G. Davis have given the name of Ethel Mary to the new baby of Nov. 8. Their other daughter, Edith Marrola, had her fifth birthday on Nov. 13 which was duly celebrated with candy, birthday cake, and new overshoes.

While on a recent camping and hunting trip with friends, Stanley Andrews, while illustrating some slight of hand tricks, lost his position, falling on a tin can and lacerating a finger on his right hand. The finger was given first aid but gave him much pain and on returning home two days following the accident, a physician was called who decided that, in the near future, an operation would have to be performed on the finger cord.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Mann of Old Town were at his father's, Edwin J. Mann's, while on a hunting trip to Upton with a party of friends from Old Town and Somerville, Mass.

WINTER FUEL IS SAVED BY PROPER INSULATION

Weather stripping alone will save 15 to 20 per cent of the fuel bill in keeping a house up to a temperature of 70 degrees, and storm windows that fit well will reduce the amount of fuel by 20 to 25 per cent, says Edna M. Cobb, home management specialist for the Extension Service, basing her statement on a report of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

A combination of weather stripping and storm windows will add from 5 to 10 per cent more to their insulating value, she says. Miss Cobb makes the following suggestions about preparing the house for winter.

"Storm windows should be hinged so they can be opened, for the house should be kept healthful in winter as well as snug and comfortable. It is also important to have the panes in the storm windows properly putted. A pane with half the putty gone and tacks used to keep the pane from falling out completely is not very effective against heavy cold air. When a good storm window is fitted outside, there will be no trouble from frost forming on either window.

"A warm floor is of greatest importance in the home during the winter, especially in a home where there are children, and a tight foundation under the house will help to keep out the wintry draughts.

"Nature's own insulating material, snow, is one of the best insulators because of the air spaces in it, and it is clean and will not injure or stain the clapboards or shingles.

"Building paper, clean straw, and evergreen boughs are other materials that may be used."

the mere money. Probably he was glad to be rid of me so cheaply.

"Anyway, he signed up and I'm your guardian, Stone. Now what's your idea of what you'd like to do?"

"Where are you going?" Stone asked.

"Back to Texas the quickest way I can. I've interests there that need a man on the job for the present."

"Can I go with you? I'm an American and I've never seen America."

Cousin John looked worried.

"It isn't that I wouldn't like to take you," he said at last. "I'm looking forward to the time when we can be together. At present my part of Texas is no place for you. We've struck oil on my ranch, which means that the country is spoiled or will be when the news gets out. It's going to be rough and tough out there. No place for a young boy. I really believe it would be better if you finished your education where you are, if you can stick it. You'll have ample spending money. You'll have your holidays. I hope I'll be able to come over and spend some of them with you."

Stone decided to stay in England. Since he could no longer hope to see his mother and could not be with Cousin John it mattered very little to him.

One request, however, he made of his guardian. He wanted his name changed to his mother's maiden name.

Cousin John cocked an eye at him speculatively, then rather distinctly advanced a proposition.

"What about my adopting you?" he asked. "I'm a bachelor, all of forty-five years old and not likely to marry. I'd kind of cotton to the idea of having a son of my own."

"And that," said Stone, "is why my name is Johnstone Nesbit instead of Jasper Stone Rockwell, Jr. I wanted Cousin John's name only, but I'd always been called Stone and he said he'd a prejudice against names or hair parted in the middle, so we dropped the Jasper and the Rockwell and, by act of congress or something impressive, I was legally renamed Johnstone Nesbit."

Smith gathered that his later years at school in England had not been unhappy. Cousin John, whom he now called "Dad," had gone over frequently, as he had promised. They had many plans for the future when Stone's education had finally been declared satisfactorily completed. Stone's favorite dream was that they should establish themselves on an estate in America. On the subject of where it should be his suggestions remained vague. Texas, to John Nesbit's thinking, was spoiled for sportsmen when unsuspected oil wells might be discovered in your immediate vicinity overnight. Intent always on pleasing his boy, he had looked the country over far and wide and finally decided that for climate, sport and congenial society Virginia probably had more to offer them than any other locality.

Stone was counting the weeks until he could leave school. Mr. Nesbit had offered to come over and join him for a tour of Europe but the boy was on fire to reach America. "Home," as he called it. His Americanism was always subject to attack in one way or other, but he nursed it sedulously, reminding himself constantly of his mother's words: "Americans are the bravest, the best, the kindest people in the whole world." The time was coming when he would live among them; no need to say how his heart bounded at the prospect.

And when the day came he was in need of their kindness. John Nesbit, his dearly loved "Dad," was dead. Operated on hastily for appendicitis, he had never come out of the ether.

His will left everything of which he died possessed to "my beloved adopted son, who has been a real son to me and has given me the truest happiness of my life."

Stone had sailed for America the day after he received the cable telling him of Mr. Nesbit's death. This was not the boy's passage; he had to go long looked forward to and, once landed, he quickly found that great wealth brought corresponding responsibilities. The agent engaged by Mr. Nesbit to find a suitable estate in Virginia, arrived with an enthusiastic endorsement of Lovelock.

When he reached this part of his narrative, Stone paused, fumbling in an inner pocket, and Smith caught a gilt of green plumed back on his waistcoat. Plainly the emerald horseshoe was a fetish with him.

He Produced a Leather Case and Held It Out to Her, Open.

He finally produced a leather case and snapping the catch, he held it out to her, open. Within it, resting on a bed of velvet, lay an ivory miniature mounted in gold.

Smith took it from his hand with interest.

"How beautiful!" she said. "What exquisite work!" She examined it carefully, taking it from the case and scrutinizing the chiffré engraved on the gold of the back.

"L. L.," she read. "That's really curious, because I can see a vague resemblance to all my sisters, and they are all L. Lovelock, as tradition and superstition in our family ordain."

"I don't know about your sisters. I do know it's exactly like you."

Stone made the assertion positively. "You laughed at me when I said so before. Now, if you've a looking glass handy, go and look for yourself."

Smith got up obediently and went to the mirror of the overmantel. Careful comparison convinced her of the truth of his assertion, amazing as it seemed to her. It was the picture of a young woman of fine presence and poise. Dignity was there and a sense of race. Anyone might be proud to resemble such a lady.

"Don't you want to know who she is?" Stone inquired.

Smith stared at him in surprise. "But I do know," she asserted. "The costume gave that away. She's your grandmother—your great-grandmother, I mean."

"Yes," Stone nodded. "That's who it is. Have you guessed her name, too?"

"You don't mean—you can't mean—" Smith stammered.

"Her name was Lorraine Lovelock."

"The plot of this story," said Smith after a perceptible pause, "is becoming too complicated for my simple mind to follow. Do you want me to believe that this handsome creature is one of our lovely ladies of Lovelock?"

"Sure enough. I found her on the family tree that hangs in the little room at the right of the back door. I can show her to you," Stone asserted. "My mother was named after her. She was her grandmother, you know."

"Then we're cousins. . . . Welcome to the family, Cousin Stone."

Instead of the swift response she expected Stone's face darkened again.

"I'm afraid it's rather distant, and at any rate you won't claim me when you've heard the rest of my story."

"None the less," Smith spoke robustly. "In Virginia, once a cousin, always a cousin. I refuse to be repudiated. I'm your cousin Smith. It's a silly name but it's the only one I answer to. I don't fancy Matilda. It sounds too much."

Could it be possible that she saw a smile to be at the corners of Stone's mouth? If so, it was gone in an instant. He spoke abruptly: "I'm to understand that meanness is not your outstanding characteristic? That's such a surprise and disappointment, Smith."

The production of the miniature had been a climax and it was with something of an effort that Stone resumed his narrative. Knowing himself possessed of a strain of Lovelock blood, when he heard that Lovelock was in the market for Smith could not help laughing. The scene was clear before her eyes and she recognized the other actor.

"That must have been Cousin Kit," she said. "I wonder he didn't explode."

"He looked as if he might," Stone confessed. "Well, I sent a check to the Hunt club, but I couldn't bring myself to write a civil letter to go with it, so I enclosed it in an envelope with a sheet of blank paper and let it go at that. About four days later I was told that three gentlemen wished to see me. I took it for a friendly call from some of my neighbors, those kind people upon whom I had counted. It didn't take long for me to learn better."

"One of them held out my check."

"We have come to return this," the gentleman said.

"I looked at it without taking it. 'Was so much ceremony necessary?' I asked him. 'You only had to tear it up. It was sent because I was given to understand that you needed money.'"

"Not your money, you young whippersnapper!" the second man cut in, very hot under the collar. The third man, the one I liked best, whose name I believe was Lambertson, put a hand on his arm.

"Steady, Jim, steady. I'm still in hope there's some misunderstanding," he said pleasantly. "Under the circumstances, I am sure Mr. Nesbit will be ready to give up the thought of establishing a hunt in this vicinity. . . . If they'd been really friendly, Smith, if they'd remembered that I was a young lad alone in a strange country, things might have been different. I might have been disappointed, but I feel sure I would have explained that I knew nothing of the Hoxton Hunt when I came there and had no intention of setting up an opposition to it. As it was, I was young, I was sore, I was doubly disappointed in that there was no friendliness in their gesture, and I simply said: 'I'm sorry, gentlemen. I see no reason to deprive myself of such a simple pleasure. I don't want my check, there is a waste basket beside the desk, I wish you a very good morning.' I turned my back on them and walked out of the room. You see, Smith, I was lost on playing the man and I was afraid they might see tears in my eyes."

"They left at once and later I found the check under a glass paperweight with a snow scene inside the glass, on the top of my desk. It has reminded me of them ever since. It looks so chilly and what- ever else it is, it never does I

Lumber operations giving employment to 200 men are expected to open in northern Somerset County according to Walter Robinson of Bingham, a well known lumberman. Between three and four million feet of spruce logs, 600 cords of pulp wood and 700,000 feet of pine logs are expected to be cut.

On the basis of yields reported by growers on Nov. 1, the Maine potato crop is estimated at 42,180,000 bushels compared with 40,460,000 bushels harvested in 1932 and 40,735,000 bushels the 1926-1930 five year average. Yields show wide variation in different localities and average 235 bushels per acre for the state. The quality of the crop is excellent. For New England the potato crop totals 50,340,000 bushels compared with 48,350,000 bushels harvested last year and 47,440,000 bushels the five year average. Production in all states but Vermont is above average.

Charles S. Foster, 26, of Carthage and Charles Pontie, 22, of East Hecbron escaped from the South Paris Jail last Sunday evening. They were found and recaptured at Bryant Pond Monday by Jailer John Smith.

Sixteen cars of a Maine Central Railroad freight train were derailed at Winglow Sunday night when the locomotive struck an automobile stalled on a private railroad crossing. Miss Juliette Roy and cousin Louis J. Quirion were trying to push their car from the tracks when the train came. Freight cars were thrown in all directions, blocking the highway and ripping down electric light poles, leaving Waterville and vicinity in darkness for over an hour. Reports indicate that no one was injured. The damage was estimated at more than $20,000.

According to a contract awarded to A. D. Hynes of Wilson Mills, a mail dog team will be operated between Oquossoc and Grants, a distance of 11 miles, with service two or three times a week. This is the only mail dog team in New England.

Col. W. O. Peterson of Portland, former Colonel-Commander of the Coast Artillery Corps, Maine National Guard, died of heart disease last Thursday night. He commanded the First Battery, Light Artillery of the National Guard in the Spanish American War and the Coast Artillery Corps from 1912 until the World War.

Alterations of the Bangor-Brewer bridge over the Penobscot river and Maine Central Railroad tracks have been ruled by the Public Utilities Commission as necessary for public safety. The estimated cost is $12,639.40.

The worst fish shortage in 15 years prevailed in Portland last week as the fishing fleet was held up for the tenth day by heavy seas and high winds.

CHURCH ACTIVITIES

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

L. A. Edwards, Pastor
9:30 Church School. Miss Ida Packard, Superintendent.
11:00 Morning Worship. The pastor's sermon will be upon this subject, "Preserving the Balance." We heard a good deal some months ago of the Government's frantic efforts to balance the budget. We all agree that it is mighty important that our government should do this.

It is the only safe course in our domestic affairs; but in this sermon we shall think not of financial budgets but of the happiness, success and peace that comes to men and women who aim to preserve a proper balance in life.

6:30 Comrades of the Way. This will be a Thanksgiving service.

7:30 Union Thanksgiving Services in the M. E. church.

On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 25, the Comrades of the Way will meet at the Chapters of Berlin and Gorham at the West Bethel Grange Hall for a Conference, Social Hour and Supper.

HOW TO USE WET MASH

By H. D. Munroe

Formerly Professor Poultry Extension, Penn. State College

A wet or moist mash for laying pullets, if used properly, will serve the purpose of a safety valve.

Pullets that are laying around fifty per cent and show no signs of dropping in production need not be fed a moist mash.

A flock of birds laying fifty per cent and still on the increase should be fed a moist fattening mash each day. Give the birds all that they will eat in twenty minutes. They should consume between two and three pounds per hundred birds per day. This fattening mash will have a tendency to slow up production and help to keep the birds in good flesh. It is not advisable to add milk to a fattening mash.

If a pullet flock is not laying fifty per cent, a feed of moist laying mash each day will have a tendency to increase production. If the flock is molting or for other reasons the production is dropping off, mix the moist laying mash with milk. The milk is added stimulant and works well in extreme cases.

If a careful poultryman will use a moist mash right, extreme high or low production can be prevented. The flock that will average around fifty per cent production all winter will be the most profitable.

HANOVER

Mrs. Eva Hayford and son left Monday for Massachusetts. From there they will leave Wednesday for Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. Condy suffered an ill turn recently.

H. E. Dyer was home from his duties as juror over the week end.

Mishemokwa Temple

Mishemokwa Temple served a six o'clock supper Friday evening. Later the one-act farce, "Not on the Programme," was put on by the following cast of characters:

Mrs. Whitney, Madeline Dudley Ophelia, a colored maid, Doris Worcester

Mrs. Jones, Mary Barker Ernestus Browne, a colored plumber, Addison Saunders

Mr. Fields, a dramatic instructor, Frank Worcester

Officer, Arthur Dudley

This was followed by violin and accordion duet by Addison Saunders and Doris Worcester. There was also a solo by Arthur Dudley, readings by Herbert Allen, duet by Perol Godwin and Arthur Dudley, solo by Gerlie Kimball. Webster Learned and Gerlie Kimball furnished music during the evening for dancing. Much appreciation was given for those who helped make this a success.
